

NETRIX, LLC COOKIE POLICY

This policy is effective as of August 1, 2019 AND will regularly be updated to reflect any changes in applicable laws or any changes in the way we utilize cookies and similar technologies.

Netrix, LLC is a leading technology solutions provider and technology consulting company headquartered explains how Netrix, LLC and its subsidiaries, affiliates and divisions, which include TetraVX and N+2, LLC, (collectively, “Netrix,” “we” and “our”) utilizes cookies and similar technologies, and the rights and choices you have in this regard.

We also use cookies and similar technologies on Netrix websites, collaboration sites, blogs and other digital media (“Sites”). Cookies are small text files placed on your computer hard drive. Cookies may include information such as the number of times you access the Sites or view a particular page or other item on a Site. This allows us to analyze traffic to our Sites and thereby improve our Sites and your experience by seeing which areas and features are popular and understand usage and to measure the efficacy of our marketing and awareness campaigns.

By continuing to use our Sites, you consent, where such consent is necessary and valid under applicable law, to our use of cookies and the placement of these cookies on your device for the purposes described.

Many Web browsers are set to accept Cookies by default, and only you have the ability to manage your browser settings. The “help” section of most browsers will tell you how to prevent your browser from accepting new cookies, how to have the browser notify you when you receive new cookies, and how to disable or delete cookies altogether.

If you have any questions about this Policy, please send an email to Privacy@netrixllc.com. For additional information, please also see Netrix’s Privacy Notice and Policy.
